

ODE TO HOME

DEAR X-MAS

As you already know, we've been asking the Universe for some love and acceptance. Some kindness to be seen as we truly are. The universe is pretty huge, but, can you think for a moment in a place where you feel loved above all? What about if we now dive somehow around your own little universe? Yes, we are talking about your home, this place where you can just be, without boundaries. This place where you belong to. Because it is important to feel that we belong somewhere. As is the light that enters the spaces we walk in, those that create stories in the places we call home. This place where the objects that accompany us are not just furniture, but memories of life and experiences that connect us to the world and nature. Observe what a child does when two people around them hug: they run to take refuge in the space between them, where a house is drawn with the body. That's where we find the true nest, the shelter that allows us to grow. So what about taking some time to care about the place we call home? The more we take care of her, the coziest it gets.

Beauty, whatever this word means to you, is around, and our new Ornaments, with their radiant charm, remind us that even the smallest things can carry great significance. As we adorn our home, our trees, our rooms... let us remember the joy they bring everytime we see them, everytime we get together with the ones we love in the spaces we love. Besides, our new Advent Calendar is full of invitations to find peace in stillness, so you can follow your own rhythm in a world that always seems to be rushing. You will find an ode to the love for our traditions and roots. An ode to your home, to make it even cozier with our unique pieces, and most of all, to add some memories and beauty to your own little universe.

So, let's play, sing out loud, dance like nobody's watching and take some time to rest. Like our home at X-mas, may we shine brightly, spreading warmth and cheer to all around us.

ADVENT CALENDAR

We did it again! The 3rd Advent Calendar is here. A limited edition full of unique pieces and small creatures waiting to be discovered. A calendar without boundaries waits patiently, each day a blank page ready to be filled with experiences, but also willing to be observed or let go, without rush and with plenty of time to enjoy them all year long. We will walk through the 4 kingdoms: mineral, plant, animal and human, while we patiently wait for X-mas and create some nice memories with our family and connect with the ones who are a shelter to us. An ode to your home, whatever its shape, in the company of those we choose as family, with whom we will share unforgettable moments without judgment or pressure.
